

Apostles, The

This document focuses on The Apostles, specifically the twelve apostles chosen by Jesus Christ.

- Selection and Titles: The apostles were ordained by Christ, received their title from Him, and were called by God, Christ, and the Holy Ghost. They were unlearned men, selected from obscure stations, and sent first to the house of Israel, but later to all nations.

- Mission and Ministry: The apostles were tasked with preaching the Gospel to all nations, with Christ's presence always with them. They were warned against timidity in their profession of Christ and were given the Holy Ghost to guide them into all truth and instruct them when answering adversaries.

- Qualities and Characteristics: The apostles were to be humble, self-denying, and loving toward one another. They had equal authority and were not of the world, which resulted in them being hated and persecuted. Despite their challenges, they were eyewitnesses of Christ's life, death, and resurrection, empowered to work miracles, and specially devoted to the ministry of the Word.
